Are Awarded Gold Medals—Carlot and Individual Judging of Calves Is Today.

Three Nodaway County boys, members of the Nodaway County 4-H club stock judging team, won first place in the county stock judging contest at the Interstate Baby Beef Show at St. Joseph yesterday afternoon, according to an announcement from their coach, J. Ross Fleetwood, county agent, this morning. The winners of the contest were announced last night at Exchange Hall at the St. Joseph Stock Yards.

The members of the Nodaway County stock judging team, who took first among nine teams are:

Fay Woodson Null, age 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Null of Maryville; Roy Eldon Moore, age 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manning Moore of Ravenwood; and Myron Crater, age 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Crater of Ravenwood.

The Nodaway County team, judging three classes, Herefords, Shorthorns and Aberdeen-Angus, scored a total of 609 points. Second place went to the Clinton County team with 584 points. Myron Crater ranked second individually, scoring 211 points and Fay Woodson Null was third individually, scoring 210 points. Roy Eldon Moore scored 188 points. High-point winner of the contest was R. W. Bland of the Clinton County team, who scored 221 points.

The boys in judging, placed all three classes and gave their reasons on the Shorthorn and Hereford. All three of the Nodaway County boys were awarded gold medals for their accomplishments, the gold medals being given by Swift & Company. Sam Russell of the animal husbandry department of the College of Agriculture, University of Missouri, was judge of the contest.

The Nodaway County stock judging team was chosen last Saturday by Mr. Fleetwood, when he took the members of the Four-H Baby Beef Club to the C. D. Bellows farm, south of the city, and there held the elimination judging contest.

There were nine counties entered in this stock judging contest yesterday at St. Joseph, Nodaway County, Atchison County, Andrew County, DeKalb County, Gentry County, Worth County, Clinton County, Caldwell ounty and Holt ounty.

Judging in the carlot classes commenced at 9:30 o'clock this morning at the St. Joseph Interstate Baby Beef Club with Tom Cross, widely known buyer for a packing house in Chicago, as judge. The individual entries were judged by Fred Stemm, also of Chicago, at 11 o'clock this morning and the county groups judged at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The auction sale of the baby beeves will begin at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, the carlots selling first, followed by the individuals at 1 o'clock. Col. P. M. Cross will be in charge of the auction sale. The annual banquet for the boys and girls of the different clubs will be held at the Transient House at St. Joseph tonight.

Nineteen counties in Missouri, Kansas and Iowa have entered calves in this show. This is the fourth year of the baby beef show at St. Joseph, and there are approximately 275 calves entered, 200 being from Missouri and the rest from Kansas and Iowa.

All of the calves entered for competition in the Nodaway County Baby Beef Show, held here Tuesday, are entered in the show at St. Joseph.

TO LAY PLANS BUREAU DRIVE

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEMBERS TO MEET SATURDAY.

60 WILL BE PRESENT

E. L. Corbin, Jefferson City, State Farm Bureau Organizer, Secured For This Meeting.

Sixty members of the Nodaway County Farm Bureau Federation are expected to be present Saturday for an all-day meeting of the County Farm Bureau executive board to formulate plans for a membership drive to be conducted in the near future in this county, according to Ernest Wray this morning, president of the county Farm Bureau.

The meeting is expected to get under way at 10 o'clock in the morning at the office of the Farm Bureau, in the Tribune building. The meeting will be adjourned for an hour at noon when the Farm Bureau members will be served a luncheon in the basement of the First M. E. Church, Main and First streets, by the Wesleyan Bible class of the Church.

The meeting will again be resumed after the luncheon at the Farm Bureau office.

As the executive board of the Farm Bureau in this county is comprised of two from each township, a man and a woman, and their alternates, Mr. Wray said this morning that all of the members of the board and the alternates have been invited to attend this important meeting.

There will be an outside speaker at the meeting, Mr. Wray announced this morning. He said that he had made arrangements to secure the service of E. L. Corbin of Jefferson City, who is associated with the organization division of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation.

The county president, Mr. Wray, will be in charge of the meeting. He is also vice-president of the state federation and a member of the executive committee of the state federation.

46 YEARS IN BUSINESS HERE

W. J. STAPLES EXPRESS AGENT SINCE 1873.

SHIPMENTS INCREASE

Receipts At Local Office About Ten Times As Much As When He First Started Work.

Forty-six years ago this morning, W. J. Staples started work as local agent of the Wells-Fargo Express Co., and has been in this business in Maryville ever since.

With this record of nearly a half-century in business, Mr. Staples is one of the oldest business men, in years of service here at the present time.

The express office at the time he first started work was located where the Richards Hardware Co. is now. Since then it has been in several locations, including the present site of the Farmers Trust Co., Corwin-Murrin clothing store, Tribune building and First National Bank.

Express business forty-six years ago was vastly different from what it is today, Mr. Staples said this morning. Then the majority of shipments consisted of perishable provisions, while now nearly every kind of article is sent by express. The number of shipments have also increased more than seven-fold during the time Mr. Staples has been agent here. When he first started in business here, a hundred shipments a week was considered good business, while now his office does more than seven times that much nearly every week in the year.

The receipts at the express office have been increased more than ten times in the forty-six years due to a large extent to the natural increase in all kinds of business in America in these forty-six years.

Express transportation is becoming more popular every year, Mr. Staples believes. This is due in part, he says, to the natural tendency to speed up business now. Several years ago, when a Maryville merchant ordered from Kansas City, St. Louis, Chicago or New York he would specify that they be shipped by freight. Now he insists upon express in order to get his merchandise here as soon as possible.

During his forty-six years in the express business in Maryville, Mr. Staples has had but few vacations, one time working for ten years without a day off. On account of his long term of service, he is now entitled to nineteen days vacation every year, and this will soon be increased.

When he first started work as an agent, Mr. Staples employed Frank G. Shoemaker to haul the express shipments to and from the depots. Several years ago, he put motor trucks in use at the local express office.

Marriage License.

A marriage license was issued this afternoon to E. W. Smith and Sadie Jones, both of Clarinda, Ia. They were married by Judge Jesse F. Robertson of the Probate Court.

Harold Van Steenbergh, who was called to Maryville by the death of his mother, Mrs. G. A. Van Steenbergh, returned to Kansas City this morning.

H. S. Students in "Pep" Parade Tonight

To Advertise Maryville-Albany Football Game Which Will Be Played Here Tomorrow Afternoon.

Tonight at 7:10 o'clock the crowds on the streets will have an opportunity to hear the student body of the Maryville High School in some peppy yells to advertise the Maryville-Albany football game which will take place tomorrow afternoon on the college gridiron when the Spoofhound team "will do their stuff."

All students are to report at the corner of Third and Buchanan street at the exact time and "Dingy" Howland, and his assistants, Ruth Bush and Graham Malotte, will take charge of the student action.

The president of the student body, Donald ("Chick") Aley pointed out to the students the necessity of giving support to the football team in the highest sort of spirit and enthusiasm. A pep demonstration was held following his talk.

WEATHER MAN IN BAD HUMOR

BUT CARNIVAL SHOWS REPORT BUSINESS AS "GOOD."

FREE ACTS ARE GIVEN

Complete Program for Remaining Days of Festival Printed In This Issue—Caldwell Makes Promise.

That old familiar jinx, the weather man, did not rest well again last night. At least he frowned on Maryville and vicinity this morning and dished up an offering not at all suitable for the third annual Fall Festival.

Heavy, muddy roads cut the crowd of out-of-town visitors today and this afternoon's audience was made up mostly of Maryville persons.

The free acts were given as usual and the entire program for the remaining days of the festival is printed elsewhere in this issue. Because of his engagement at Wichita Falls, Tex., beginning Monday, Cliff Curran, the "thriller" on the pole near the Elks Club, will leave Maryville tomorrow afternoon on the Burlington. His act will be earlier than usual as can be seen in the detailed program.

The diving contest between Buster Strong and George Murray will be held at the aquatic show tomorrow night. It was scheduled for last night but on account of the illness of one of the participants it was postponed until tomorrow night.

The Flying Floyds are gaining popularity by their feats just south of the Barmann Auto Co., on North Main street.

In spite of the weather, the shows and concessions report a good business. D. A. Caldwell, secretary of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce, said this morning that some good weather was on the way and should arrive here tomorrow.

If the roads dry up, a record crowd is expected here tomorrow and Saturday and preparations are being made to handle the large number of cars expected here.

Hankins of Burlington Waives Preliminary

Arrested For Gaming—Leen Copenhaver, Stanberry, Enters Guilty Pleas on Liquor Charges.

B. K. Hankins of Burlington Junction waived preliminary hearing in the justice court of Judge Warren L. Johnson yesterday afternoon on a charge of gaming. He furnished bond of $200 and was bound over to the October term of circuit court, which convenes Monday. Hankins was arrested yesterday by Sheriff Campbell.

Lee Copenhaver of Stanberry, who was arrested here the fore part of September by county and city officers on liquor charges, appeared in justice and police courts yesterday afternoon. He pleaded guilty to the state charge of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor, brought against him by the state, and was fined $200 and costs. Copenhaver was unable to pay his fine and was committed to the county jail to serve out his fine. On the drunkenness charge brought against him by the city he pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs of $7 by Judge Warren L. Johnson. The charge of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor brought by the city was dismissed.

SAYS FLYERS WANTS CORPS

NAVAL OFFICER APPROVES MITCHELL PLAN.

MAKES NEW CHARGES

Witness Declares Aviators Are Silenced By Fear Of Superior Officers—Disapproves Present Air Policy.

Washington, Oct. 1.—A new sensation was sprang before the President's air board today when Lieut.-Com. R. R. Paunack of the navy bureau of aeronautics flatly declared that "some navy flyers" were afraid to express their full views on aviation policies because of possible disciplinary action by their superiors.

Despite declarations by navy chiefs that naval aviation was functioning smoothly and well, Paunack said that fully 50 per cent of the pilots favored a separate air corp as the best means to develop the air force.

Paunack was the first of a group of naval pilots to testify before the board which devoted the entire session to listening to their greivances against the present naval air service.

Lakehurst, N. J. Oct. 1.—Capt. Antone Heinen, German dirigible expert and formerly instructor of the crew of the dirigible Shenandoah, today dramatically revealed that Benjamin Hereth, mechanic aboard the ill-fated airship, told him the dirigible "had burst."

"Was the Shenandoah's structure weakened by the fact that she broke away from the mooring mast on January 16?" Heinen was asked.

"I don't think so,' he replied.

This concluded Heinen's testimony. Then the veteran German airman, with tears in his eyes, explained his attitude.

"I want to thank the court for its fairness in hearing me and to those (indicating the survivors) whom I had to hurt. I want to say there was nothing personal in my statements. I only said what was in my mind and heart for the good of dirigible development. If any ill-feelings come from what I have said, it will hurt me deeply.

"While I was an instructor in the dirigible service here, I found there was never a finer body of men, nor any more interested in this new air development than those I came in contact with in the American navy."

CAN'T LIFE S 51 FROM SEA

RESCUE EFFORTS ARE STILL FUTILE.

ORDERS TO "CARRY ON"

Secretary of Navy Wilbur Believes That Efforts Should Not Cease to Learn if Any Survive in Sub.

New London, Conn., Oct. 1.—Straining to their fullest capacity, the Monarch and Century failed to lift the stricken submarine S-51 from the bottom of the sea this afternoon.

The air salvaging lines and blast tanks were filled with compressed air to aid in the work but to of no avail.

New London, Conn., Oct. 1.—Duly admonished by Secretary Wilbur rescue and salvaging was the program of the navy forces today over the stretch of water fifteen miles off Block Island where the submarine S-51 was struck amidship nearly 150 hours ago, sinking with thirty-three men aboard.

Not the slightest hope existed in the minds of the submarine experts or divers who have delved into the hulk as to the fate of the men, but Secretary Wilbur said "Carry on" until definite proof was at hand that all lives were extinct.

Carry on the navy did and for the first time in forty-eight hours the rescue squad was favored by good weather.

At 9 o'clock this morning, the wreckers Monarch and Century arrived at the scene of the disaster and divers were working to pass slings under the stern of the submarine preparing to make another attempt to lift her to the surface.

Coroner's Jury Names Mrs. Cook's Husband

Recommends Investigation of Clifford B. Cook Who Was Indicted on Perjury Charge.

Vinton, Ia., Oct. 1.—The coroner's jury probing the death of Mrs. Myrtle Cook, W. C. T. U. and klan leader, slain by a bullet through the window of her home September 7, filed a verdict today and recommended the investigation to be continued "as to Clifford B. Cook, her husband."

Cook was indicted last night for perjury after Mrs. Hester Sieling of Sioux City admitted he was with her the day before the murder instead of going to church and sitting alone in his room as he claimed.

It was said the woman claimed Cook told her he was going to Vinton the following day to ask his wife to agree to a divorce.

Cook's alibi was that he spent the night at a hotel in Grundy Center, about forty miles from Vinton.

Governor Says Course In Schools Would Promote Better Understanding Among All Classes.

Mexico, Mo., Oct. 1.—Public utility courses in high schools and colleges as a means of attaining a feeling of unity between the producers and consumers were advocated by Governor Baker in a speech at the annual barbecue of the Missouri, Power & Light Co., here yesterday.

"Public utility corporations serve merely as trustees for the public," the governor said.

REPARATIONS TRUCE MADE

FRANCE TO PAY 40 MILLION YEARLY FOR FIVE YEARS.

WILL RESUME PARLEY

Acceptance of Plan Is Announced At Treasury Department—Had Held But Little Hope.

Washington, Oct. 1.—A temporary truce in the French debt negotiations was reached between the French and American commissioners this afternoon under which France will pay the sum of $40,000,000 annually for the next five years on her total war debt of $4,200,000,000.

At the end of this five year period the negotiations are to be resumed on the French capacity to pay.

Announcement of this truce in the negotiations of the debt settlement was made at the treasury department late this afternoon following the submission of the offer to France earlier in the day by the American commission.

Washington, Oct. 1.—The French delegates came to the treasury department shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon and closeted with the American commissioners for a brief time. They then left the treasury department declining to answer any questions.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Rejecting in its entirety the terms proposed by Joseph Caillaux, the French finance minister and the terms which the French announced already had been accepted, the American debt commission today submitted a new settlement plan to the French.

The plan was evolved at a meeting this morning between President Coolidge and four of the American commissioners, Secretary Mellon, Secretary Hoover, Senator Smoot and Representative Crisp, and was submitted to the crestfallen French in a brief formal meeting at the treasury department.

Submission of the fresh plan came after an unprecedented mixup in the chain of events which admittedly has brought the negotiations to the brink of rupture and failure. Caillaux and his Colleagues retired again to the embassy to study it and promised to return to the treasury with their answer a 3 o'clock this afternoon.

There was little doubt at noon today that upon the French answer depends the success or failure of the present negotiations.

Washington, Oct. 1.—The Franco-American debt negotiations veered this morning on the brink of rupture, after the French had announced last night that what amounted to virtually an agreement between Secretary Mellon and Joseph Caillaux, the French finance minister, had been reached.

After an hour's conference with President Coolidge at the White House this morning, the "Big Four" of the American commissioners, Mellon, Hoover, Senator Smoot and Representative Crisp, made the following statement:

"The representation in the press, on the supposed authority of a member of the French commission, that an agreement has been reached and purporting to give the terms, is entirely incorrect. Such a statement obviously did not come from M. Caillaux, because before adjournment of the sub-committee last evening, the French members were informed by the American members that their proposals were not likely to be accepted. There has been no differences of opinion whatever among the American members."

One member of the commission, who has constantly opposed any more leniency to France than was accorded Great Britain and the other debtor nations, said shortly after leaving the White House:

"I do not expect any agreement at the meeting today. If I tell the truth, I may say that we have no more chance of agreement now than the first day we met."

The condition of Mrs. William Doran, who suffered a stroke of paralysis three weeks ago, remains about the same.

The Weather

THE ONLY DAILY PAPER IN NODAWAY COUNTY

OPPORTUNITY FOR ALL.

America is still the land of opportunity, let those who may speak to the contrary. Nothing is more absured than the familiar complaint that nothing more is to be gained in the New World by ambition and merit. These Jeremiahs believe in all seriousness that all the rich men are rich already and no more are to be made rich, that the world has exhausted its entire supply of honors and all that remains for the ambitious today is to work for a wage or a salary and hope in vain that some day a ten-spot invested in wildcat oil stock will make them rich.

In truth there are more men making fortunes and winning renown and high honors in this country than ever before if these new fortunes and honors were to be judged by those of the past. The difficulty now is clerks and laborers speak of fortunes in terms of millions and of honors in terms of world-conquerors, presidents, international diplomates, world-famous artists and the like. Those were lower stars to which our forefathers hitched their aspiring wagons. There are still big stakes, but many of us must be content with such as were big a score of years ago.

If the American is not too particular there is no valid reason why every American can not win some monetary or honorary prize, just as there are few Frenchmen, who need to be without some ribbon of honor. Just now there seems to be at least a half dozen opportunities for fame and fortune for every man, woman and child who can read and write words of one syllable.

Everywhere the eye travels is found heralded fascinating announcement of prizes, all kinds and varieties of prizes imaginable. Just a few of them are peace prizes, journalism prizes, art prizes essay prizes, prize novels, prize plays, prize names, harmonica prizes, art prizes, scholarship prizes, the Nobel prize, marble prizes, athletic prizes, puzzle prizes, missing letter prizes, oratorical prizes, new idea prizes and countless others, too numerous to enumerate. Surely there is opportunity enough for all here.

Did you ever see an ex-loafer?

A meteoric career generally has about the same kind of a finish.

First thought is a product of the mind but second thought is very often a product of cold feet.

A case of social unrest is found with the small boy who has an unspent nickel in his pocket.

Those people are most likely to have things coming their way, who go after things going the other way.

The worst thing about a man who can't tell the truth is that, after he has lied to you a thousand times, he still thinks you have little enough sense to believe all he says.

How can a mere man ever understand the female so long as she thinks there is a square meal in a three cornered olive sandwich?

The automobile is making such inroads on the local passenger business of the railroads that it looks to an outsider like the only solution eventually would be to establish an every hour or every two hour motor car service in and out of important points. The motor may not be as reliable on railroads as the steam engine but for local business its availability would seem to be so unquestioned as to overcome any uncertainties along that line. And, under the present tendencies, it would seem that a cheaper, lighter and more frequent tdain service, will ultimately be necessary to meet a condition that is a condition and no longer a theory.

However, one of the commonest ways by which governments subsidize land and sea transportation companies is through stiff financial allowances to them for carrying the mails.

That, in all likelihood, is what the Hoover system, if adopted, will amount to—but the subsidy will be sugar-coated.

PROVING THE EPIGRAM.

Oliver Wendell Holmes was guilty of the epigram, "The best security of a long life is to acquire an incurable disease."

For proof, witness William Howard Taft.

Not that the Chief Justice is exactly afflicted with any disease, incurable or otherwise. But of all his generation of president and vice-presidents, he was doubtless the one whom an insurance company would have regarded as the worst risk.

"He was, until care and self-denial partly overcame it, much over-weight. He spent years in tropical service. He was advertised, at the close of that service, as having had a serious operation, for the removal of part of that important digestive and moral organ, the liver. He has lived a life full of hard work and useful public service.

And he is the only survivor.

Not another man who has been either president or vice-president is now alive. But Taft, still young at 68, is an active contemporary.

Sixty-eight is young for everybody but presidents.

Consider Chauncey M. Depew and Charles W. Elliot. They are the same age. They already have lived 24 years more than Theodore Roosevelt and 22 years more than Woodrow Wilson.

Evidently the joyous life and the contemplative life lasts longer than the strenuous one.—Cape Girardeau Southeast Missourian.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer.

Washington—A subsidy by some other name wouldn't sound so bad. So Secretary of Commerce Hoover seems to think.

This country certainly doesn't take kindly to subsidies. That, according to aviation authorities, is what's the matter with American air navigation. It can't be made to pay commercially unless it's subsidized.

Private capital won't go into it at a loss. The public balks at a subsidy. So it lags.

Is there any way of getting around this difficulty? Hoover offers a suggestion.

The commerce secretary's idea is that the Postoffice Department should give up flying its own planes and make contracts with private aviation companies to carry the airmails, just as the railroads are paid for carrying mail terrestrially.

The privately owned mail planes, he adds, could charge for transporting freight and passengers, too. Thus, in Hoover's opinion, private aviation would be put on a paying basis and could be left to itself to develop naturally.

This plan might work satisfactorily. In fact, it probably would, inasmuch as Secretary Hoover thinks it would. He makes very poor guesses.

KEEPING IT OUT OF THE PAPER.

When somebody gets into trouble, if he has pride or thinks he has reputation, the first thing he does or has some friend do is to fly to the newspapers and ask that his name be kept out of print. He does not mind the fine, nor the entry on the police records that he has been arrested. He knows that many of his friends will know that he has gotten into some kind of a jam but he would also give his right arm to keep it out of the papers.

On the other hand when a reader picks up his newspaper he begins to look for the story of an escapade he has heard unauthentic reports of during the day. He knows that the newspaper has sent a man to the very source of the information and will have as near the facts as they can be gotten in the limited time a reporter has to talk to any one.

But what is the effect of the newspaper reader when he does not find a word about the matter. He knows the thing is a matter of public record and he could find out by going to the records but he buys a newspaper to save him all that trouble.

There are many things we dislike to publish. We dislike to hurt the feelings of the innocent ones involved. But an editor is accused of shielding criminals or playing favorites and is many times accused of the criminal act of accepting money to keep something out of his paper. Then before you ask that your wrong doing be kept out of print remember that you are unloading much of your trouble on the newspaper that had nothing to do with your folly. And by all means do not do like a girl did the other day when she called this newspaper and very positively informed the reporter that she was not going to have anything printed about the affair. Of course "she" got something printed about it.

If there is an angle to your case that the editor does not know about and there is a real reason other than your own hide that a thing should be kept out of the newspaper you had better make an engagment with the man in charge and have a friendly heart to heart talk with him. But by all means remember, once for all that he is the judge and don't try to tell him where to head in. This is disastrous.—Poplar Bluff Republican.

HEARING RESTORED OFTEN IN 24 HOURS

Amazing Results Secured In One Day By Use of Virex Formerly Known As Rattle Snake Oil.

Deafness and Head Noises need not be dreaded any longer since the discovery of a widely known physician. Now it is possible for some of the most obstinate cases of deafness to be relieved in a day's time by the application of a preseription formerly known as Rattle Snake Oil. This treatment is meeting with wide success all over the country.

Mr. D. M. Lopes, a Pennsylvania man, says: "I used the treatment at night before retiring. The following morning I could hear the tickings of the alarm clock that I was unable to hear before. Now my hearing is restored perfectly after many years of deafness."

Mr. Ben Jackson, who lives in Indiana says, "Before I used Virex I could hear nothing. After ten days I could hear my watch tick."

Angeline Johnson, a Mississippi resident had been stone deaf for eighteen years. She says, "Virex has stopped my head noises and I can hear the train whistle 3½ miles away."

Roy Fisher, Iowa man, says, "I hadn't heard a watch tick for eleven years—now I can lay my watch on the table and hear it plainly."

Mr. W. A. Lumpkin, of Oklahoma, says, "After being deaf 38 years, I used your treatment only a few days and hear fairly well."

Mr. Anthony Chapman, of Michigan, says, "The terrible head noises have stopped entirely and my hearing is practically back to normal."

Deaf Baby Now Hears.

Mrs. Ola Valentine, of Arkansas, says, "My little boy, now 5 years old, had been deaf since about 4 months of age. Now he hears very well and is learning to talk."

Mr. Mather Pelleys says, "My young son, deaf for years, has used Virex for only thre days and he heats almost as well as ever before."

Such amazing reports come from all over this country and canada. The prescription which is known as Virex, is easily used at home and seems to work like magic in its rapidity on people of all ages.

So confident are we that Virex will restore your hearing quickly, and to introduce this remarkable treatment to a million more sufferers, we will send a large $2.00 treatment for only $1.00, by collect on delivery mail, on ten days' free trial. If the results are not satisfactory the treatment costs nothing.

Send no money—just your name and address to the Dale Laboratories, 1930 Gateway Station, Kansas City, Mo., and the treatment will be mailed at once. Use it according to the simple directions. If at the end of 10 days your hearing is not relieved, your head noises gone entirely, just send it back and your money will be refunded without question. This offer is fully guaranteed, so write today and give this wonderful compound a trial.

Why I do not worry
"I have used a four-burner Perfection Oil Stove for four years, and discarded my wood range entirely," writes Mrs. A. E. Austin of 800 Jefferson Street, Joplin, Mo.
"I serve nine people three meals every day. My Perfection cooks everything beautifully—biscuits, steaks, roasts—anything I want.
"Even if I go away I do not worry about the flame. For I know it won't creep up, or go out.
"I feel free to let my children light the Perfection Stove, as it burns kerosene, which is one of the safest fuels. I could not ask for a finer stove."
Mrs. A. E. Austin

Perfection Stoves have many advantages other than Mrs. Austin mentions. Cooking begins when a match touches the wick. Every drop of oil is completely burned in the long chimneys before the heat reaches the cooking utensils, so kettles stay soot-free. Any dealer will gladly give you a demonstration.

Hinton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hinton of Pickering, took place at 6 o'clock last evening at the parsonage of the Christian Church in Pickering. The Rev. T. M. Walton performed the single ring ceremony, which was witnessed by Miss Alice May Whitman and LeRoy Hinton, brother of the bridegroom. The bride wore a gown of blue flat crepe trimmed in lace. Mr. and Mrs. Hinton will live on a farm, east of Pickering.

Thank You.

Chapter K., Hopkins P. E. O., was delighted to accept an invitation from Chapter L., of Maryville, to a luncheon and program given last Saturday. Due to rain and bad roads, the Hopkins ladies went by rail instead of in autos as had been planned, leaving here on the afternoon train. They were met at Maryville by the obliging and courteous B. I. L's of Maryville and conveyed in high powered automobiles to the beautiful country club where they were greeted by the county seat sisterhood and friends of the sisterhood, each Maryville P. E. O. having invited a friend to meet and greet the Hopkins visitors. An hour was spent in getting acquainted and the renewing old acquaintances before the lovely three course luncheon was served followed by an interesting program as given elsewhere in this paper. The Hopkins ladies returned home on the night train loud in their praise of Maryville in general and the P. E. O. Sisterhood and B. I. L.'s in particular.—Hopkins Journal.

Pimples

What can I do?

"OH, why can't I have a skin like other girls? Why do I have to have these ugly pimples, blotches and blackheads?

"If I could only find something that would clear up my skin and give me back my soft, rosy complexion, I know I would be the happiest girl in the world! What can I do?"

Is that you talking? If it is, you don't have to worry a minute! Just build up the rich, red blood in your body. Then your skin will be as clear and soft as anybody's.

That's what S. S. S. has been doing for generations—helping Nature build rich, red blood! You can build red-blood-cells so fast that the impurities that cause breaking out on the skin hardly get into the system before the pure blood annihilates them—kills them right out—stops them from breaking out through the skin.

And then this rich, red, pure blood feeds and nourishes the tissues of the skin and keeps it looking healthy.

That's all there is to it. Healthy, vigorous, red blood such as S. S. S. helps Nature build, makes you healthy all over. It beautifies your skin—drives away pimples, blackheads, blotches, rash, boils and eczema—gives you back your appetite—builds firm, plump flesh and fills you full of new life and energy.

Reserve Strenegth Is Lacking Both Teams

New York, Oct. 1. (United Press)—Reserve strength is a vital factor to be considered in doping the chances of the Washington Senators and the Pittsburgh Pirates in the world's series.

They are two good ball clubs, representative champions out of a pair of hot races in which their opposition extended them to the very last. They have good pitchers, good catchers, good infields and good outfields.

Yet either team could be wrecked by one injury as the reserve strength on the bench is not of the usual championships caliber. One spike turned in the ground, one blow from a batted or pitched ball, one slip on the grass and the whole tide of battle might be turned in the series.

The Senators had a narrow escape in the world's series last fall. The team was fortunate in going through the season without serious injuries and the lack of reserve power was not apparent until Peckinpaugh pulled up with a charley-horse and had to sit on the bench.

Result of Peck's Injury.

Bluege had to be moved over from third base to shortstop and Miller, who was not even a minor league infielder had to be used at third. Poor Miller, trying with all the gameness of a real fighter, found himself up in every pinch and he was a'most useless. The Senators, of course, finally beat the Giants but it was luck more than class that dropped the Giants in the last game.

Bucky Harris learned his lesson from that experience and he got busy this year and collected some veteran reserves. He got Mike McNally from the Boston Red Sox but Mike didn't hold up and was passed to the minors. He secured the veteran Deacon Scott from the New York Yankees but Scotty is not good for many games and he has slowed up to a walk. He picked up Joe Harris from the Red Sox also and found him very handy when Joe Judge was hit on the head with a pitched ball in Detroit and was forced to the bench for weeks. Harris is not the best of fielders but he is one of the most dangerous batters in baseball.

Harris also picked up Bob Veach from the Red Sox to use him as a pinch hitter and for occasional duty in the outfield. He also has Nemo Leibold for spare duty in the outfield and a youngster, Jeanes.

As catching reserves the Senators have the veteran Hank Severeid and young Tate. Muddy Ruel, who has been doing most of the work behind the bat is badly worn from the strain. He is a little fellow and has to work chiefly on nerve. He is a great little catcher but his work fell off badly late in the season, the loss of strength showing chiefly in his poor throwing to the bases.

The Pirates received a heavy blow when "Lucky Johnny" Rawlings, perhaps the best utility player in baseball broke his ankle late in the season. His work at second base during the final drive of the Pirates was a piece of art and without him the Pirates certainly would have had more difficulty if they did not actually lose the pennant.

As utility infielders the Pirates have the veteran Stuffy McInnis, who can still bat even if he is as slow as a truck, and Ens and Thompson. The team would be in a serious plight if anything happened to Traynor or Wright.

In the outfield the Pirates have as reserves, Carson Bigbee, a good relief man and Haas, a youngster. Bigbee has slipped a lot in the last two years but he is still good for a game or two.

Mediocre Reserves.

Compared to the brilliant reserve staff the Giants and in the world's series last year the utility men of the two champion teams this year is decidedly ordinary. It is not fair, however, to compare any team's secondary strength to that of the Giants because John McGraw has recruited more high class reserves than any other two teams in baseball.

The Pirates, however, will be much less liable to need reserves than the Senators. The Pirates are comparatively a young club and the players can stand the wear and tear better than the veteran Senators. If anything should happen to Peck during the series, the Senators probably would blow their chances.

4 Shivering Tots Are Made Happy by 3 Business Men

Four little urchins, poorly clad, sat shivering this morning on the sidewalk on Main street, watching the operations of the carnival personnel getting ready for the afternoon's entertainment. They were so cold that they could hardly move. The littlest tot, just 14 months, had only a portion of an old curtain wrapped around her body, while the others could boast only of overalls.

The other three children ranged from two and a half years to 6 years of age, and sat out on the walk sans shoes and stockings. They are suffering from the effects of a separated father and mother, and the latter, it is said, does not give her children any too much attention. These four little children were down town alone.

Now along comes a great big man, a prominent man in the Republican party, and notices their plight. He knows it is not pleasant to be cold so takes the kiddies in hand for a while. They are taken to a woman's ready-to-wear store on Main street, where the two smallest children are given a bath and all of them clad fit to keep out the chilly, damp atmosphere. And then the little tots are taken to a shoe store and outfitted with shoes and stockings, with a Barnard man helping to defray the expenses. Say, little feller, aren't you glad you have plenty of shoes and stockings and a good home in which to stay?

Five Thousand Feet From Death

Personal Narratives of Survivors of the Wrecked Dirigible Shenandoah, Written for the Democrat-Forum and Tribune.

No. I

By FRED J. TOBIN
Aviation Pilot

FIVE THOUSAND FEET FROM DEATH! I can only marvel at my escape.

When the Shenandoah crashed to the ground and I climbed out of my keel to safety, I wondered what strange whim of Providence had spared my life and taken that of Pilot Allen, detailed to the same duty as myself. One minute more and I should have been at the same post in the control carriage. Allen would not yet have left, of course, and two instead of one would have paid the toll.

But to go back to the beginning. I was an elevator man on the Shenandoah detailed to shifts of two hours on duty and four hours off. I used to go down to relieve Allen fifteen minutes or so ahead of time. Perhaps we'd talk and kill a little time before I actually went on duty.

That day I awoke about the usual time. But I was rolled out of bed by the ship's motion. I realized immediately that there was something wrong. I thought we had struck a strong up-current of air. We were travelling over mountainous country where such currents were not infrequent.

Like Climbing Cliff.

I was in the tail end of the ship and I started walking forward to the control carriage, where Allen was on duty. Suddenly the ship nosed up—precipitantly—at an angle of at least 60 degrees. To attempt to walk in the direction I was headed, was as difficult as climbing a cliff that rises almost virtically from the ground. So I waited. I thought the ship would soon right itself and that I could then continue on my way. Besides I was at least ten minutes ahead of time.

As I expected the ship did steady—but just for a moment. Then it started down. It nosed down almost as far as it had nosed up. It described almost a semi-circle in the sky.

Up to that moment I wasn't a bit worried. It isn't at all unusual to hit a strange current that will pull up the nose of the ship. But to have it pulled first one way and then another—well the current that would do that must be decidedly strange—more than a current, in fact.

Just then I heard the ripping and tearing of steel. It sounded like the snapping of a great many girders. My heart stood still. I don't know what I expected next. It was pitch dark and I could not see about me.

Not Panic—But.

My disturbance was not panic, or anything approximating it. I just didn't know what had happened. And to hear the crash and crunch of steel, five thousand feet in the air, and not know why or how—or how much—well you just want to know, that's all.

Just then I felt several strong gusts of wind sweep by. I knew. Those gusts were coming from the outside, right into the ship. I knew then that a hole had been torn in us. I didn't yet know that the ship had broken in two. But what difference? One was as bad as the other.

I think right from the first I was resigned to death. Resigned—and yet eager for a fighting chance.

How could I have been other than resigned? Such work as mine and that of my companions must inevitably leave one prepared for catastrophe. So instead of becoming panic-stricken and emotional about it, I found myself studying the situation and the events that would probably follow.

Immediately after we cracked, we started coming down terribly fast. We must have been making ten metres a second. Obviously the first thought was to lighten her, throw off some ballast. We did that. We loosened some gasoline tanks. But still we kept going down—faster—faster. We gained momentum as we went. Faster all the time. Nearing the earth all the time. The earth and certain death.

That was the situation we all faced. But like every other man I had my own particular problem to solve. I was standing close to two groups of fuel tanks, each tank holding 720 pounds of gasoline. The proximity of the tanks to myself was anything but reassuring. I felt sure that the wreck of the ship would catch fire and cause them to explode. And if I should by some strange miracle withstand the crash, I knew I would be doomed by the explosion.

Close Figuring.

I remember that my mind worked clearly and quickly—as it does in a crisis. I remember figuring that if they did explode, I would be safest standing midway between the two groups of tanks, because if they did go off, they would explode straight up and not to the sides.

I acted upon that decision. I stationed myself between the tanks and thought some more. I planned what I should do, if when the ship hit I should still be capable of doing anything—ever again. I figured that if I came down alive, I could climb out from under the ship through the keel. Then I waited and just trusted to luck.

Shortly thereafter, came the scrunch and grind upon the ground. We had hit. No doubt about it. There was a great crash and tearing of steel. But there I was listening to it—taking it in—capable of listening and taking it in. There I was safe—miraculously safe.

For the first time I thought of my wife and my little unfinished bungalow and my two dogs. And other things like that—

No Time To Think.

No, I never once thought of them before. I suppose I didn't want to think what it would be like for them when my wife read of my death in the papers. I suppose my mind was to occupied with figuring out—oh—all sorts of things—

No, and I never once prayed. I just couldn't help feeling that what would happen would happen. If it was my time to go—I would surely go.

But it seemed as though it was Allen's time. The fore part of the ship, was heavier than the keel. It crashed first and broke the fall for those, like myself, in the rear.

I climbed out. Then I heard about Allen. And I thought about that one minute between me and death. And I remember sort of saying: "It's just not my turn—yet."

200,000 Visitors at Tulsa Oil Convention

Oklahoma City Becomes "Empire of Grease"—Special Trains From Various Fields in United States.

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 1. (United Press)—Tulsa today became the "Empire of Grease."

Located in the center of oil producing states of the union and known locally as the capital of Oklahoma's oil fields, it was the host to some 200,000 oil men who came from nearly all parts of the earth for the third International petroleum exposition, ending October 10.

The Bradford special with 200 delegates from the Bradford and Pennsylvania oil fields was here. Riding on the train was King Petroleum, known in Warren Pennsylvania, his home, as Fred E. Windsor.

Special trains were here from the twelve oil states of the union. With them were the twelve princesses chosen by their states from which group "Queen Petrolia" will be chosen.

On the exposition grounds working models of every kind of oil machinery known to the oil industry from every country were on exhibition. There was photography representing every phase of oil drilling and refining. Models of tanks, drilling rigs, high production oil fields, samples and tools filled exposition buildings.

Looking forward to the annual oil man's golf tournament were some 300 contestants who came armed with their golf paraphenalia.

On the exposition grounds are 15 buildings filled with exhibits. In one motion pictures of the oil industry were being shown. Another housed an exact replica of the oil derrick and equipment used by Col. E. L. Drake when he drilled the first oil well in the United States. Drilled in Pennsylvania in August, 1859, the oil sold for $20 a barrel.

Several oil companies were on the grounds with equipment to drill an oil well. The machinery will be set up and the well dug as though the drillers were actually expecting to strike oil.

The most colorful event of the whole exposition was to be staged this afternoon in the form of a pageant and parade of the twelve oil princesses and King Petroleum.

Riding on a throne on which is characterized every phase of the history of oil development in the United States, King Petroleum will make his initial appearance escorted by the twelve princesses.

Read what this Maryville resident says:

J. N. Bryan, 222 W. 11th St., says: "My kidneys were out of order for a long time. I had dull pains in the small of my back and I could hardly get up from a chair as the pains were sharp and darting across my kidneys. Doan's pills cured me and I haven't been troubled since."

Most of Wheat Land Is Prepared for Seed

Farmers Waiting for Fly Free Date—Past Week Characterized By Much Cloudiness.

Columbia, Oct. 1.—In Missouri the week ending Tuesday morning, September 29th, was characterized by much cloudiness, frequent rains, and quite marked temperature changes, ranging from abnormally cool the first half to summer warmth by the closing days of the week.

Rains were general and in amounts generous to copious. In some central and southern sections there were some excessive falls, resulting in some small damage. The State is quite thoroughly soaked and a spell of fair weather is needed for farmers to catch up and accomplish fall seeding.

The most of the wheat land has been plowed and partly prepared for the seed, but apparently not more than 20 per cent of the crop is in. The delay is partly due to wet soil and partly to the waiting for fly-free dates. The first sown is germinating well.

The bulk of the corn crop is in good shape. Cutting has stopped because of wet ground, but a large amount is in shock.

Too frequent rains have been injurious to open cotton and have retarded picking and opening. Apple harvest is making fair progress.

Seeks Investigation of Crop Report Board

Senator Heflin of Alabama Declares Federal Bureau Is "Uncertain, Inefficient, Unreliable and Dangerous."

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 1.—A Congressional investigation of the work of the crop-estimating board at Washington will be demanded by Senator Thomas Heflin of Alabama, he announced at his home here today.

In a statement announcing his intentions to seek an investigation, Senator Heflin characterized the board as "uncertain, inefficient, unreliable and dangerous."

Heflin's statement was filled with caustic criticism of the estimate of the cotton crop, released by the board September 23, showing a crop of 200,000 bales over the previous estimate.

Oscar Mutti Sued (?)

(Hopkins Journal.)

From an item in a recent issue of the Maryville Democrat-Forum, it would lead people to believe that Oscar L. Mutti, of Hopkins, had been sued by George Edwards, when the facts are, through Chas. McCaffrey, Mr. Mutti has been sued as trustee, he simply being the representative of twenty prominent Hopkins township men who have personal claims against Mr. Edwards for $16,000. There is also $15,200 eastern money on the land and Mr. Edwards voluntarily went into bankruptcy four years ago when Mr. Mutti was named as trustee and we are asked to make this statement so that all may understand the situation.

WILL DISCUSS WORLD LAWS

INTERPARLIAMENTARY UNION CONVENES IN WASHINGTON.

IT AIMS FOR PEACE

Over 275 Foreign Delegates Are Present—Fifty Americans There—Number Of Prominent Men.

Washington, Oct. 1. (United Press) —The twenty-third conference of the Interparliamentary Union convened here today, the largest international gathering in the national capital since the Washington disarmament conference here in 1921.

Composed entirely of members of national parliaments throughout the world, bound together for the achievement of international peace, its session was opened by Secretary of State Kellogg and Senator William B. McKinley, of Illinois, president of the American section in the hall of the House of Representatives.

Over 275 foreign delegates were present for the meeting which will continue until October 7.

After the reply to the addresses of welcome by Baron Theodor Abelswaerd of Sweden, president of the council, today's sessions were to be devoted to presentation and discussion of the report of Dr. Christion L. Lange of Norway, secretary-general of the union.

Lange recalled that this was the first American meeting of the Union since the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904, and summonded the present conference to remain true to the Union's stated purpose.

Among the widely foreign delegates attending the conference are former Chancellor Josef-Karl Wirth of Germany, Paul Lobe, Socialist president of the German Reichstag, the British delegates, Sir Robert Horne, Sir Arthur Shirley Benn, Maj. Gen. Newton J. Moore, F. W. Pethick-Lawrence, N. A. Belcourt of Canada, Pierre Renaudel and Fernand Merlin of France, Gen. Richard Mulcahy of Ireland, and Baron Wittert van Hoogland of Holland.

Besides Senator McKinley, the American group includes Senators Swanson of Virginia, Curtis of Kansas, Robinson of Arkansas, and Representatives Burton of Ohio, Britten of Illinois, Cooper of Wisconsin, Oldfield of Arkansas, Baker of California, and Connally of Texas.

Interest in the conference centers on the Saturday session when former Secretary of State Elihu Root will present a report on codification of international law.

It was said today that opposition of the League of Nations would probably prevent the American delegation from introducing a resolution inviting President to call a world conference on law codification.

Tomorrow's afternoon session will be devoted to discussion of Senator Swanson's report on the Pan-American Union. Other subjects on the agenda include: the development of international law, the rights and duties of nations, outlawry of war, economic and financial questions embracing European customs agreements, the problem of national minorities, control of dangerous drugs, reduction of armaments and demilitarized zones, the present crisis in the parliamentary system and its possible remedies.

The United States Government and delegation have made elaborate preparation for entertainment of the foreign visitors, including a White House reception by President Coolidge on Tuesday and a state banquet given that evening by Secretary Kellogg. The White House reception will be followed by a pilgrimage to the home and tomb of George Washington at Mount Vernon. On Monday the visitors will be luncheon guests of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Besides a $50,000 congressional appropriation for the Union's conference and use of the House chamber granted by this government, the American group is paying all expenses of the foreign delegates from the time of their arrival at New York to the departure at Niagara Falls on October 11. The Union will hold its last session in the Canadian House of Parliament, at Ottawa on the 13th.

The draft resolution on codification of international law drawn by Elihu Root, and around which the chief conflict of the conference is expected to center, follows:

"While greeting with satisfaction the labors undertaken by the committee of experts called together by the League of Nations to indicate the questions of international law suitable for progressive codification, nevertheless considers that the best method to follow would consist in establishing a general and constructive plan for such codification, based on the progress made during the recent years, with a view to finding the fundamental conditions of the regime of peace to be instituted between the nations, to providing for the judicial settlement of disputes which constitute a threat to that regime and to the application, if necessary, of methods of execution and sanction.

"And invites the committee for the study of juridical questions to present proposals for this purpose to a forth-coming conference of this Union.

"These proposals would eventually be submitted to an international conference of nations called for the purpose of effectualizing the codification of international law."

Mrs. Lee Suffered From All These Troubles, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well

Terre Haute, Indiana.—"I was weak and run-down and in such a nervous condition that I could hardly do my work. I was tired all the time and dizzy, had no appetite and could not sleep. I tried different medicines for a year but they did not help me. Then my husband saw the ad. for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and had me take it. I regained my strength and never felt better in my life. It completely restored me to health. I had practically no suffering when my baby boy was born and he is very strong and healthy. I know that the Vegetable Compound is the best medicine a woman can take before and after childbirth for health and strength. I would be willing to answer letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. WM. J. LEE, Route E, Box 648, Terre Haute, Indiana.

ROOFING

Roof now with a "Northwest" fireproof ornamental roof. We contract these roofs applied. Do not remove the old wooden shingles. We can lay a better roof over old wooden shingles than can be laid over new tight sheathing boards. Let us explain in person how and why. We have been laying this type of roof covering for twenty-five years and are highly specialized in it. Our materials are manufactured especially for over-shingle application. Our roofing mechanics do nothing but roof over old shingles, year after year, and are therefore expert and efficient. We lay a "tailored" roof. Every detail is cared for in that finished manner and builds into your home an architectural beauty and quiet dignity that will always be a source of satisfacton to you.

Every property owner that we have served is satisfied. You will be equally so.

We will be in Maryville only a comparatively short time this trip with our roofing mechanics. NOW is an opportunity to get a high-class, moderate priced, ornamental fireproof roof applied by men who know how, by a company that is responsible, and be protected by an unqualified guarantee that makes you absolutely safe. A roof is a combination of good materials and skilled workmanship. We supply both and stand back of the completed construction. No divided responsibility. We do every bit of work that is necessary, and then guarantee the work accordingly.

Materials, mechanics and contracting agents are at your service. Let us give you an estimate of the cost of such a roof, and show you our materials. There is no obligation to buy, and we will consider it a favor to show our products.

We do not only roof the house but apply new valley material, new hip and ridge material, paint and point chimneys where needed, paint gutters, decks and porches, do a first-class and thorough job in every manner, and then stand back of it as a complete job.

"Northwest" roofs are sold either for cash or on easy terms. Their quality is unsurpassed, their appearance beautiful and their cost surprisingly low.

Chinese Girl Held on Larceny Charge

Shanghai, Sept. 30.—Can a woman sell herself to two or more men? And if she does what charge can be placed against her?

These two questions, while perhaps offering a court no great problem in the Americas where there are more laws than enough to cover every possible phase and kink of human conduct, presented a neat puzzle for the International Mixed Court here to work out. But work it out it did, arriving at two answers to the second count.

"NO," was the answer to the first question tendered to the jurists. The second was not so easy, but after much pondering and ransacking of municipal statutes and Chinese criminal codes, it was decided that the accused and entirely unconcerned female would be tried either for larceny or for obtaining money under false pretences, with a preference for the former violation.

Pretty Pan Ling-tz was destitute. She needed money and neded it badly. Assuming an unquestioned right as far as Chinese law goes, she sold herself to an ardent suitor for Mex. $80. So far everything was lovely, but the eighty failed to last as long as Ling-tz expected so Miss Pan calmly sold herself to another gentleman at reduced rates.

Purchaser No. 1 began an investigation and discovered his property in possession of the second buyer. Argument was to no avail. Persuasion, solicitation, entreaty, and threat, met with no more success. In desperation the rejected lover appealed to the police. Ling-tz' arrest followed, and the legal battle was begun.

While it was admitted little Miss Pan had a right to sell herself to one man, it was decided that from that date she became the property of that man from whom the only escape was either to buy her freedom or take legal action to prove that she was mistreated. Therefore if she sold herself to another, she stole something that did not belong to her and disposed of it—larceny pure and simple.

With a jail term for robbery staring her in the face, the complainants relented. The first buyer agreed to sell to the second and thus settle the matter. He held out for a higher price, however, in true Chinese style, and made a neat profit on the transaction. Everyone, including the Court, was satisfied.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Grain futures took further drops in today's session on the Board of Trade. Wheat led the slump.

Wheat went into the sinking spell after a delayed start owing to confusion over the new style of trading. A prominent house, said to be operating for influential longs, set the pace.

Trade in corn was not impressive. Action was influenced by weakness in wheat.

Oats held within the usual narrow range.

Provisions eased off late when commission houses stopped buying.

"Breaks" May Again Decide World Series

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor).

New York, Sept. 30.—Pitching, batting, fielding and base running will have all their important parts to play in the world's series that is to start soon between the champion Washington Senators and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The "breaks," however, will also be an important factor and they can't be figured in doping the chances of the two pennant winning teams to win the series. No one can tell whether luck will side with the Senators or the Pirates or will remain neutral and divide its smiles and its frowns.

It is perhaps a fact that in many years, luck did not play as conspicuous part in deciding the championship as it did last year in aiding the Senators to win the deciding game from the Giants.

There were three distinct breaks in that game that turned the tide in favor of the Senators and gave them the rich rewards of the difference between the winners and the losers' share of the receipts.

Ball Took Freak Bound.

In the ninth inning the Senators tied the score when a ball took a freak bound and jumped over Freddy Lindstrom's head. It was tagged a sure out. Lindstrom was all set to field the ball on an easy bound and make the throw to first when it hit a pebble, a hole or something directly in front of him and bounded high over his head.

Such breaks are not unusual but they are almost miraculous when they happen twice under almost identical circumstances at the most critical part of the game.

In the twelfth inning the same break occurred and the Senators won the ball game. Again an easy chance went down to Lindstrom. The play couldn't have been duplicated any more perfectly if it had been removed from the ninth inning and replayed. The ball took another freakish bound over the little third baseman's head and the winning run was over.

In that same twelfth inning there was another intervention of luck that put the winning run on the bases. Muddy Ruel was at the bat and he knocked a high foul behind and to the left of the plate. Hank Gowdy, as dependable a catcher as any manager could desire, tore off his mask and tossed it out of his path. The mask bounded in front of him and Gowdy stepped into it. He tripped and stumbled and lost the catch. Ruel then doubled and scored the winning run on the third big break of the game.

You can go to a thousand big league ball games and you never will see an experienced catcher like Gowdy step into a mask and lose a catch. Even a fiction writer would hesitate to base the turning point of a diamond drama on such a freak occurrence. But it happened nevertheless.

In figuring the chances of the Senators and the Pirates in the coming series it is fairly safe to base calculations on the batting averages of the teams, the pitching strength against different types of attack, the gameness of players under fire, the difference in managerial strategy, etc. You will be able to get a fair idea of what can be expected, especially if you have had an opportunity to see the two teams in a number of games during the regular season.

But you can't figure the breaks. You can't tell what a young player, like several of the Pittsburgh stars, will do when he sees a two-thousand-dollar ball coming at him. The Washington players can be doped because they have been under fire in one world's series and have survived the strain and tension of two hard pennant races. A good money player in one game will be a good money player in any number of games.

Not Fighting Club.

The Pirates never have been renowned as a fighting ball club. On the contrary, they have been accused in the past of lacking gameness, not physically but mentally. There was nothing in the play of the Pirates this season that would indicate any lack of bravery but the National League ball players will tell you in confidence that two of the Pittsburgh players are apt to be nervous in a tight place.

There is a difference between physical and mental bravery and it is the fear that the mental strain on the Pirates will upset their game that will cause many dollars to be waged on the Senators.

The breaks in this series will be most important—if they are as prominent as they were last year—because such luck tends to discourage a young player who has not been through the fire. Even the experienced Giants in the last series reached the point where they felt—"How can you bat that luck?"—and if they were discouraged the youthful Pirates might blow up completely.

From the early part of the season when the Pirates started their drive for the National League pennant, experienced baseball men thought that the Giants would win out because the Pirates would be certain to blow. Many of them think that influences more than batted balls and pitched balls will cause them to blow during the series.

CLARINDA MAN IS I.-M. CHAMP

E. M. GRINDSTAFF DEFEATS LYMAN TURNER OF RED OAK.

TURNER "A SURPRISE"

Youthful Clarinda Golfer Wins Golf Association Title By a Score of 5 Up and 4.

Lyman Turner, member of the Red Oak, (Iowa) Country Club, well known at the Maryville links, went down to defeat yesterday afternoon in a 36-hole match play at the Southmoreland Country Club at Shenandoah, losing the championship match to a youthful player, E. M. Grindstaff of Clarinda, Ia. Grindstaff, who recently moved to Clarinda from Des Moines, won 5 up and 4 to play and the handsome trophy cup offered by the Iowa-Missouri Golf Association which sponsored the tournament that has been in progress since Sunday.

In the consolation tournament W. S. Sockett of Red Oak won the championship round, defeating Dr. E. A. Dothage of Shenandoah 4 up and 3 to play. Sockett was formerly a member of the Drake University, Des Moines, Ia., golf team.

The biggest upset of the Iowa-Missouri Golf Association tournament was the elimination of Gene Vaughan of Shenandoah, low medalist, by Mr. Turner, runner-up in the tournament. Turner "is the surprise of the tourney," says the Shenandoah Sentinel-World. He not only eliminated Vaughan but took out J. L. Crone, former Shenandoah champion, 5 up and 4.

Grindstaff had to shoot par to win his way into the finals. In the semi-finals he vanished the formidable Ben Brower, the latter who is also well known here, having played on several occasions on the Maryville links.

J. V. Joy of Villisca defeated J. P. McCloy of Shenandoah in the semi-finals in a match in which both shot 42 on the first nine holes. He defeated Russ Phillips of Clarinda in the second flight 7 up and 6.

This is the second annual tournament of the Iowa-Missouri Golf Association. Last year the tournament was held at Clarinda, Ia. Three Maryville players entered the tournament this year, but were eliminated from championship play in the first round.

Captain Seth Is Again Winner of A Feature Race

Captain Seth of the Ben Jones stables at Parnell, that featured at the racing meet at Hawthorne track, Chicago, this summer, is again showing his worth at Fairmount Park at Collinsville, Ill., a short distance out of St. Louis. The Globe-Democrat has the following concerning the race he won Tuesday at Fairmount Park:

"The racing feature of the afternoon was the Globe-Democrat purse, for 2-year-olds, at five and a half furlongs, in which Capt. Seth, bred and owned by the Jones Stock Farm, Parnell, Mo., was a strong favorite. He trailed the pacemaker for a half mile and then came on to win as he pleased. He was considered such a certainty that plenty of money was bet on him, and the odds, $2.20 for $2, were the shortest of the meeting. His place odds were $2.70 and show odds were $2.50, one of the freak results of the certificate system.

"B. A. Jones has selected Capt. Seth as the successor of Seth at the Nodaway County farm, and for that reason has refused numerous tempting offers for him. This was the fifth race he has won in his last eight starts and he has yet to finish out of the money."

The feature of the racing yesterday was the race in which Lorena Marcella, a winner Monday, was entered by Ben Jones in a six furlong race. It was for 3-year-olds and up with $1,000 added to the purse. Robert Maxwell with 111 pounds up won in 1:15. Lorena Marcella was second carrying 110 pounds. Pocket Mouse, with 111 pounds up, owned by C. C. Wright of McLeansboro, Ill., considered as one of the favorites of the race, did not place.

Flyweight

Meet Georgie Rivers, Los Angeles flyweight, who has been hamming up somewhat of a reputation in the roped arena of late. He's fast, shifty and can hit. He hopes to meet Fidel La Barba for the title in the near future.

Burlington and Skidmore Split a Doubleheader

Burlington Junction Boys Win 9 to 7 While Skidmore Girls Victorious 31 to 12.

In two hotly contested basketball games yesterday afternoon at Skidmore in the Nodaway County Outdoor Basketball League Burlington Junction and Skidmore High School teams split a double-header.

The boys game resulted in a victory for Burlington Junction, 9 to 7, but only after three 5-minute extra period play-offs were necessary. The Skidmore girls did not have much trouble in defeating the Burlington girls sextet, winning by a score of 31 to 12. Although the score was somewhat one-sided, it was a fast, clean game.

The boys game ended at the end of the fourth quarter 6-all. At the end of the first five-minute extra period the score stood 7-all. The last two periods were played in the dark. No scores were made in the second period play-off and in the last and deciding 5-minute period a Burlington man slipped in a field goal. As the score shows, close guarding featured the contest, with neither team having the advantage.

Homer Williams officiated the boys game and Miss Lorene Bruckner refereed the girls game.

The box score of the boys game:

Skidmore—Cokley, forward, 2 field goals; Linville, forward, 1 free throw; Hall, center; Lyles, guard, 1 field goal; and Long, guard. Burlington Junction—Byers and J. Jones, forwards; Monk, center, 1 field goal; K. Jones, guard, 2 field goals and 3 free throws; Johnson, guard.

These were games postponed from last Friday.

Uniform Traffic Laws Recommended in U. S.

Cleveland, Ohio Oct. 1. (United Press).—Uniform traffic regulations throughout the country should be adopted and traffic movement should be considered as a state and local problem of engineering importance in order that the tremendous toll of dead and injured in automobile accidents be cut to the minimum.

This recommendation was included in those adopted by the resolutions committee of the National Safety Congress in session here today. The committee declared that the thousands of accidents occurring each year could have been prevented.

"Both motorist and pedestrian should take due regard of the rights of each other," the resolution continued, "and failure to recognize their respective rights is likely to result in injury."

Other recommendations included:

1. That public schools, and colleges should provide safety courses.
2. That drivers of machines be licensed by proper authorities and only after strict mental tests.
3. That the campaign against highway crossing accidents should continue and should receive the support of federal, state and municipal authorities.
4. That laws against hazards to daily life should be more strictly enforced.

In an industrial safety resolution, the committee urged the installation in factories of safe industrial equipment and the safe-guarding of the equipment already installed.

The committee asked that the operators encourage safe methods of handling work and teach more safety habits for the workman, when he is away from the shop, and his family.

The committee recommended the employers do everything in their power to encourage safety education in the schools.

Twenty-three meetings were held by various divisions of the Safety Congress today.

Preceding the meeting of the resolutions committee a discussion of the future of the safety program was held. Rehabilitation of the injured and those affected by death and injury was discussed at the morning general session of the Congress.

"Lost" Plane Lands Near Mound City

Alights Because of Severe Electrical Storm Because Ship Is All Metal —No Other Mishaps.

The Junker plane, which was late in reaching Rosecrans Field yesterday was forced down near Mound City when the ship was caught in a severe electrical storm. The Junker is all metal and Frederick Melchoir, pilot, decided that for his own safety and the safety of his passengers, he should alight.

After the storm had passed, it was found necessary to engage a mowing machine to clear the field of weeds. Even then five attempts were made before the ship was able to hop off. No other mishap marred the voyage and the reported "lost plane" arrived in St. Joseph several hours late.

Why Gum-Dipping is so Important to Car Owners

GUM-DIPPING—the Firestone extra process builds into tires extra quality by impregnating and insulating every fiber of every cord with rubber.

This exclusive method is carried out in special Gum-Dipping plants, after which the cords are put through the usual calendering process.

By this method, added strength and flexibility are imparted to the cords, making Gum-Dipped Balloons most serviceable and enduring over rough roads.
